

DOCK STRIKERS PLAN RETURN TO WORK SATURDAY

Settlements Brought Nearer
When Men Win 8-Hour
Day Point.

There was a general belief among striking longshoremen this afternoon that the strike may be over by Saturday morning—which would suit the men better than Monday because Saturday is a half day with extra pay for overtime.

The belief was based largely on developments at Washington, where Attorney General Palmer ruled that the Adamson law is applicable to the workers on car floats and gives them the benefit of its eight-hour provision. A. L. Janss, chairman of the strike committee of the Marine Workers' Affiliation, said the strikers of that organization would be back at work by Monday if the committee grant them full seniority rights.

Thomas B. Healy, head of the Marine Engineers' Beneficial Association, sent telegrams to the heads of the longshoremen's unions which are on strike, saying that he believed a settlement could be made in their favor if a committee were sent at once to Washington. This was taken to mean that the Interstate Commerce Commission was believed to be ready to grant increased freight rates to the coastwise steamship companies and thus enable them to grant the wage demands for which the longshoremen are striking.

In any event the heads of the longshoremen's international, including T. V. O'Connor, the President, who is now at Montreal, are working to bring the strike to an end by the pressure of the membership outside of New York City. Locals at ports all along the coast have been voting on the question of going back to work and the reports from the vote thus far received are in favor of going back.

It was said that on the strength of the outside vote the strike might be simply "declared" off, without waiting for the New York organization to take a new ballot. There are 20,000 members in the international, and it was said that they would not permit a little group in New York to run things.

About 2,000 warehouse employees in the Chelsea district are on strike today. They want their wages increased from $28 to $35 a week.

The independent trucks organized by the Merchants' Association were at work at the coastwise piers to-day without the special police protection that they had yesterday. Police reserves were ready to answer calls for help, but no such calls were received. Pickets of the strikers were few and all they did was to note the license numbers on the independent trucks.

The Merchants' Association gave out a statement showing that New York is 20,000,000 feet short on its lumber supply because of the strike.

One shipment of lumber, sent from the South in December, has remained on board ship all that time, and a robin has built a nest among the planks and raised a family.

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, June 9.

—A general strike has been proclaimed in the German districts of Karlsbad, Ellbogen, Falkenau, Neudeck and Graslitz because of food shortage.

All industries in the districts are at a standstill and the banks and the schools are closed. The sale of alcohol has been prohibited.

No Contest of Haslett Will.

Announcement was made yesterday that Robert Stuart, a cousin of the late Samuel E. Haslett, a wealthy reclus of No. 135 Remsen Street, Brooklyn, will not contest Haslett's will.

On investigation it was discovered Stuart is only a third cousin of the testator, so it is said his interest in the estate would be only about $3,000, and not worth the expensive litigation that would be necessary.

Most Noxious Dogs in Bath Beach.

Ten men and women, residents of the Bath Beach section, were before Magistrate Geismar in Coney Island Police Court to-day charged with allowing their dogs to roam the streets without muzzles.

Magistrate Geismar fined them $2 each, and warned them a future offense would lead to a jail sentence. He told them of the dangers of unmuzzled dogs in summer time, referring to last Thursday, when eleven children were bitten.

A seat on the New York Cotton Exchange was sold to-day for $20,000, a decrease of $2,500 from the last sale.

Jealousy Leads to Double Tragedy in New Britain Hotel.

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., June 8.—Andrew N. Enells, thirty-nine, shot his wife, Margaret, in a hotel here late yesterday and then sent a bullet into his own head, dying almost instantly. Mrs. Enells, who was twenty-one, died half an hour later in a hospital.

The couple were married in New London a year ago, but separated a month ago. Enells came to this city to-day and talked to his wife, who was employed in a hotel. Later he returned, and going to an upper floor, shot her in the head and committed suicide. The police gave jealousy as the motive. Enells served in the navy in the World War.

MURDER MYSTERY SOLVED BY GIRL'S STORY, SAY POLICE

Warrant Out for Father of Irvington, N. J., Miss Whose Aged Admirer Was Slain.

The police of Irvington, N. J., believe they have discovered the reason for the murder of Herman Chelborg of Newark, who was found stabbed to death on the sidewalk of Grove Street, near 15th Street, Irvington, on the night of May 29. The reason, if it be one, was found in the alleged confession of Celia Frances Carraro, a sixteen-year-old girl of Irvington, now in the Newark City Hospital, of an intimacy of more than a year with Chelborg, who was sixty-nine years old.

The girl's father, Gaspare Carraro, a barber, of No. 494 Grove Street, Irvington, has been missing since the day of the murder and a warrant for his arrest has been issued. He is believed to be in either Chicago or Detroit.

This warrant was issued after a statement his eighteen-year-old son Salvatore is alleged to have made to the police in which he said, "If my father had not killed Chelborg I would have done it. We planned to kill him two weeks ago when we heard of the attentions he had paid my sister. Two weeks ago my father visited Celia, and she told him everything. On Saturday evening, May 29, my father asked me to go to his house and look after the five other children as he intended to go away. That was the last I saw of him."

Salvatore Carraro has also identified a butcher knife found near the body as one he picked up in a Newark Street store more than a year ago and took to his father's home.

DID you ever stop to think just what part of your average table purchases you use as food? There is tremendous waste in most everything. You actually consume about 20% of a chicken. About 50% of a cut of beef.

Your vegetables and fruits are pared and trimmed. Always a large part discarded. Eut with milk you consume all. It is all food. Perfectly balanced. No waste, no preparation. It comes to you ready to eat. Good to the last drop—and such food.

Of all the foods that nature provides milk is the only one that is complete. Milk alone will support animal life indefinitely. And it is the only food that will.

No Sugar Required for Jiffy-Jell Desserts

They come ready-sweetened. They come acidulated with pure fruit acid, made from lemons or from grapes. A bottle of liquid fruit flavor comes in each package. We crush the fruit, condense the juice and seal it in a bottle. So Jiffy-Jell is a real-fruit dainty, rich in fruit. Simply add boiling water as directed on package, then the fruit essence from the bottle, and let cool. If you used fresh fruit, plus a lot of sugar, you could make nothing more delicious.

Serves six—at trifling cost

One package of Jiffy-Jell serves six in mold form, or twelve if you whip the jelly. And the fruit alone which we use in it would cost you more than the whole dessert.
